

7 April 1975

MEMORANDUM FOR ALL RECRUITERS

SUBJECT: Use of Two-Part AQS System

As part of the input to help resolve the desirability of continuing the use of a split AQS system, the DD/Pers/R&P has requested that the recruiters respond, in writing, to the following questions:

1. Has the use of Part I (a) increased the return of forms from those we want most to apply, and (b) caused the forms to be returned more promptly?
2. If the use of Part I by itself has both increased the number and promptness from the better candidates, has the delay in their receiving Part II offset the advantage to a degree that negates the initial advantage?
3. If given an option, would you (a) continue the present system, (b) revert to a single PHS system, or (c) continue the use of Part I and II with the recruiter having the option to give out both parts together at his discretion. Please give reasons for your choice.

If you feel your reply would be more meaningful if expressed in a different manner than in the questions suggested above, please do so. The emphasis, however, is in promptness of your reply. Please call if we can clarify any part of this inquiry.

Chief, Recruitment Division

STAT

FOURNED TO PROFESSIONAL RECRUITERS